IV. THE ARCHITECTURAL COMMITTEE. Architectural control is accomplished for Quail Hollow through the activities and decisions of its Architectural Committee. The essence of the Committee's function is to review and approve all plans for any proposed construction, landscaping, or alteration in order to insure that such work is designed and completed in accordance with the general purposes for architectural control set forth above. The Architectural Committee also has the right, along with any owner or occupant, to enforce the provisions of these covenants.

In its review, the Committee shall consider primarily aesthetic aspects; it is not responsible for evaluating the structural safety of buildings or for their compliance with Utah State, Layton City, or other applicable codes and ordinances. Instead, Quail Hollow owners and contractors themselves are responsible to comply with all applicable codes and other ordinances.

Initially, the developers of Quail Hollow shall serve as the sole members of the Architectural Committee. The Architectural Committee shall be assisted by professional consultants as necessary. The Committee derives its authority from these covenants for Quail Hollow. At the point that 90% or more of the Lots in Quail Hollow are sold, the Architectural Committee will then be controlled by the Property owners who shall vote for five (5) of them to serve on the Committee. They shall adopt By-laws and regulations concerning voting, elect a chairman and any other matters needed to operate to fulfill the purposes and responsibilities of the Architectural Committee. All such rules and regulations must be reasonable and may be challenged in a court of law by any Property owner.

NOTE: The Architectural Control Committee reserves the right to be totally "SUBJECTIVE" in approving or disapproving any home to be built in Quail Hollow in order to maintain the integrity of the development. These covenants are set in place as a guide for the committee and therefore; any adjustments (up or down, increased or decreased) by the committee when approving or disapproving a set of building plans may be subjective (by the committee) and shall be deemed acceptable by the existing home owners.

Prior to commencing any construction, the owner shall furnish the following for review and approval by the Committee:

1. A site layout plan showing the proposed home as it will be situated on the Lot; showing all dimensions of the home and ~~its~~ distance from Property lines; and showing all drives, walkways, patios, barbecues, outbuildings, etc., together with the dimensions between them.
2. A finish grading plan which specifies the elevations of basement floors, main floors, patios, etc., and indicates their relationship to the grade and contour of the Lot in question. All alterations to existing grades shall be clearly identified.
3. A complete set of architectural plans, to include:

A. Plans of all levels, elevations of all sides, and typical building sections.

B. A complete set of all exterior colors in the form of samples or color chips, with detailed information as to the location of the color on the home, (e.g., brick, siding, trim, roofing material, etc.)

C. Any subsequent changes, improvements, or alterations in the aforementioned plans or selections of exterior materials and colors must be submitted to the Committee for its prior written approval. Similarly, this provision applies to the construction of accessory buildings which may, at any time, be contemplated.

4. Along with the plans specified above, the owner shall sign a Notice indicating that he/she has read and understood this declaration of restrictive covenants for Quail Hollow and that he/she agrees to their terms enforceability in a court of law.

5. Notice of approval or disapproval will be given the owner in writing within thirty (30) days after submission.

Owners and/or contractors will be held responsible for any and all damage to adjacent Lots and common areas. Failing this, the Architectural Committee shall take action to rectify the situation in accordance with remedies available to it and shall charge the responsible party (parties) for cost incurred.

In no case shall such a privacy wall or fencing extend into the clear vision area of a corner Lot as defined by the Architectural Committee, nor shall it be a sight distance hazard to vehicular or pedestrian traffic. Under no circumstances can privacy walls or fencing be closer than forty (40) feet to the street.

21. Landscaping. Each owner shall maintain his Lot in an attractive and safe manner so as not to detract from the Quail Hollow project as a whole. All owners possessing vacant Lots shall be responsible for keeping such Lots clean in appearance and free from all refuse and potential fire hazards. No vacant Lot shall be used for storage of any kind except during the construction period. The vacant Lot shall be kept clean to the satisfaction of the Architectural Committee. Upon failure or neglect of any owner to remove rubbish, trash, weeds or unsightly debris from his Lot within ten (10) days after written notice to remove such has been mailed to him by the Architectural Committee, the Committee may cause the same to be removed and the individual Lot owner shall be responsible for the reasonable expenses of such removal. Failure to pay such expenses shall result in a special charge against the Lot owner's account and may result in a lien against said Lot. All open areas between the front Lot line and the rear line of the main buildings, except driveways, parking areas, walkways, utility areas, improved decks, patios, porches, etc., shall be maintained with suitable landscaping of plants, shrubs, trees, grass and similar landscaping materials. Landscaping ought to take advantage of existing natural vegetation to the maximum extent. Within twelve (12) months of occupancy of any home, the homeowner must have substantially completed the landscaping of his Lot. Such landscaping shall include, but not be limited to the preparation for and planting of lawn, grass or other appropriate ground cover and appropriate shrubbery and trees. Should any homeowner fail to comply with the provisions of this section, the Architectural Committee shall, after having given reasonable notice, proceed to exercise all remedies available to it in order to achieve compliance. Each Property owner shall be responsible to insure that no erosion or water drainage shall take place on his Lot which may adversely affect neighboring Properties and/or streets. This means there shall be no interference with the established drainage patterns over any Quail Hollow Property unless adequate provision is made for proper drainage; such provision must be approved in advance by the Architectural Committee. The owner shall be totally responsible for compliance with applicable government laws and ordinances concerning drainage. In the usage above, "established drainage" is defined as the drainage which exists at the time overall grading of Quail Hollow Property is complete or which is shown on any plans approved by the Committee. No landscaping is to exceed 30 feet in height. In no manner shall landscaping impair the view of the surrounding Property.
